To the Faculty, Staff and Students of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville

Vol. 18, No. 14
December 9, 1987

I welcome this opportunity to share holiday greetings with colleagues. My greetings convey not only good wishes for your holiday season, however, but also my deep gratitude for your efforts during the past year on behalf of the University Community. Under conditions that have been less than ideal, we have accomplished much. I am confident that, with the regeneration of body and spirit which the holidays offer, we will be able to continue our good work together in 1988. Horace, who spoke often in praise of wisdom and hard work, advised his readers to allow themselves an occasional respite: "At the appropriate moment, it is a pleasure to intermingle a bit of mirth with your wisdom." I commend this advice to you.

Happy Holidays!
